Introduction and general terms

Jemstone UK Events (“we”), and the people we seek to serve, are dependent on the bookings and hire from the public and corporate/businesses. Jemstone UK Events (“we”) promises to respect any personal data you share with us, or that we get from other organisations, such as when you give your consent for a response to an enquiry you have made (Website, Social Media) to share your personal information with us and we commit to keeping it safe. We aim to be clear when we are collecting your personal information and we will not do anything you wouldn’t reasonably expect with it.

Developing a better understanding of our clients through their personal data allows us make better decisions, work more efficiently and, ultimately, helps us to save and improve the services that we provide.

This privacy policy explains the following:

- what personal information we may collect about you including through the use of cookies;
- how we will use personal information we collect about you;
- our commitment to keep your information secure on what occasion it might be shared with anyone else;
- how we keep your personal information up-to-date;
- how long we keep your personal information for;
- your choices and rights to know what we know about you, make changes or ask us to stop using your personal information;

We are committed to safeguarding your personal information. Whenever you provide such information, we are legally obliged to use your information in line with all laws concerning the protection of personal information, including the Data Protection Act 1998 and the Privacy & Electronic Communications (EC Directive) Regulations 2003.
